

Why I Built the Power Move Method™

I didn't build this for clout—I built it for the people who were left out.

I learned the hard way that most "education" talks to the few and leaves the rest guessing. So I rewired the game.

The Power Move Method™ was born out of necessity—precision over noise, confluence over hype, discipline over dopamine.

My mission is simple: unite millions of sniper-level traders to move as one. When we move together with rules, we win together with intention.

From Chaos to Clarity

I documented every pattern that actually repeats.

The combos surface again and again: Engulfings at levels. Inside bars before expansions. Pin bars that reject with volume.

What separates lucky from consistent: agreement—Stochastics, RSI, MACD, moving averages, Heiken Ashi, and volume around the 9-day EMA.

No more solo indicators. Only A+ confluence.

The A+ Setup

Rules: 1) Higher timeframe bias first. 2) Trade with the trend—or fade it only at key levels.

3) Wait for agreement: HA body + MACD momentum + Stoch turn + volume expansion.

4) Journal every trade in the Companion™. 5) Size small. Scale after the data proves the edge.

Why We Move as One

I don't want gatekeepers translating our goals. I want us in the driver's seat.

This isn't theory. It's a blueprint forged from pain, patience, and pattern recognition.

If you're reading this, you're ready to execute precisely—no more noise, no more guessing.
